News in brief

Farewell Year 12 students

Thirteen years of schooling has come to an end for our 443 Year 12 students. Their last week at school included a fun dress up day, cooked breakfast and final assembly. They will be dancing the night away at their Dinner Dance tonight and gathered more formally at the Year 12 Presentation Afternoon on 19 November.

Taryn Fiebig Concert Hall

Last week, the Churchlands SHS Concert Hall was renamed the Taryn Fiebig Concert Hall. A fitting tribute to the late former Churchlands SHS music student, Head Girl and highly talented soprano singer.

The new name was decided after rigorous deliberation from a panel including Churchlands Board, staff and Alumni.

Taryn performed a free concert at the Concert Hall in 2016 on a visit to Perth to see her family. Wanting to give back to the school that prepared her for a career as an International Opera Singer she gave a free workshops to Churchlands students and shared her experiences as professional musician. Check out the newly appointed sign when you next drive past.

Congratulations to the Arts Faculty

Last Friday, the visual, photography and media arts teachers held their annual Year 12 graduates exhibition. There was a fantastic turn out of parents and students, with some challenging and thought provoking work, especially those coming out of the Year 12 ATAR design class. The panoramic landscape works were visual stunning, the Year 12 Media music videos were wonderfully (and sometimes hilariously) edited and the Year 12 general works included some pieces which would easily have done well in the ATAR prac exams.

Congratulations to staff and students alike for amazing us with their talent.

P&C Spring Drinks

All parents are invited to attend a P&C event on Friday 28 October between 5.30 - 7.00pm. Spring drinks will be held in front of the Taryn Fiebig Concert Hall. There will be a bar and the P&C will provide nibbles. See the flyer on page four, more details to come.

School Captains 2023

Year 11 students have voted for their 2023 School Captains.

The two successful students met rigorous criteria including a three stage selection process.

Congratulations to

- Nicola Archibald
- Ava Nasiri Zahed

Traditional Head Girl and Head Boy titles have been replaced with School Captains. This change which was student driven, students approached the student council requesting a more modern and inclusive approach moving forward.

Congratulations also go to Year 11 students Rhianna Keating and Marcel Howell, the Music Captains for 2023. Marcel said 'I am very excited and grateful to be elected as one of the Music Captains. I will make sure I continue to add to the great contributions Sarah and Alfie have made in the past year and I will work with Rhianna to make the Music Program even better than it was before.' Rhianna said "I am looking forward to working with the Music students and staff as well as the leadership team to make our final year at school the very best."

Congratulations to Shreeya Naroth in Year 11 who was selected to attend this year's Fogarty Futures Leadership Conference for four days from 7-10 October. In the words of the Futures Conference conveners, "We had a high volume of applications this year of exceptional quality, so we would like to congratulate you on securing such a competitive place."

The conference is conducted by the Fogarty Foundation in collaboration with UWA to empower years 10 and 11 students with leadership skills for the future, developing empathetic leaders through fostering the ability of participants to relate to and understand others' perspectives.

Mental Health Week

In support of Mental Health Week which was last week, <https://mentalhealthweek.org.au/>, an ABC news article shared the following Online Support ideas for kids and we thought it would be valuable to share these with the Churchlands community.

Online support for kids can be found at:

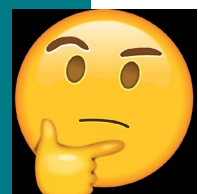

- BRAVE (a program for children 8-17 years experiencing anxiety)
- Youth moodgym (an interactive self-help book to prevent and manage symptoms of depression and anxiety)
- BITE BACK (a program to increase well-being and prevent depression and anxiety for adolescents aged 13-16 years).

Online support for parents can be found at:

- Tuning in to Kids (parenting program focused on the emotional connection between parents/carers and their children, from toddlers to teens)
- Partners in Parenting (a program designed to help you raise your teenager 12-17 years to prevent depression and anxiety)
- Circle Of Security Parenting (a program to improve the development of children by strengthening the parent-child attachment, 0-12 years)
- Triple P — Positive Parenting Program (programs to educate parents to prevent and treat behavioural and emotional problems).
