Top Tips To Study

By Jake Smith (10-T1), Journalism student

It’s that time of year when we are all knee deep in study mode (or should be). Studying can cause extra stress, but if you follow my top tips, you are sure to pass your exams and tests with ease.

1) Be in a quiet place to study: Being in a quiet place to study can make it all the difference to learn and comprehend the subject. Some places that are quiet are the Library, a park or at the back of your house if there is noise inside.

2) Take regular breaks: There is no point studying for hours on end without taking a break. Your mind and body will go numb. Get up, go outside, breath in some fresh air have a snack. Keeping refreshed throughout study tie is important to reduce levels of stress and anxiety.

3) Have A Reward: Having a reward is a good motivation to actually study. It puts a goal in your mind of what you want to achieve.

4) Use an Effective method to study: When making notes, write dot points, and not sentences. Don’t just use one colour pen, use around 4 different colours. Also use highlighters to highlights the important information. Also use Quizlet. It is a very useful way to study definitions. - https://quizlet.com/

5) Sit in the Front Row In Class: I know it is “uncool to sit at the front” but to help your study, paying attention can make all of the difference. A student survey revealed results of where the best place to sit in the classroom were
   - Front rows: 80%
   - Middle rows: 71.6%
   - Back rows: 68.1%

6) Test yourself frequently: Testing yourself is a good way to increase your academic performance.

7) Drink Water: You probably think you drink enough water, but studies show that up to 75% of people are in a chronic state of dehydration. You should have around 4-6 full cups of water everyday so you can listen, study and learn.

There you have it! Be sure to follow all of these key tips and try to get over that 50% line. I hope this article has been useful for you. Now, go and study to smash that exam!

This will be the last issue for this term.
